

A. Abigail Payne bio

Abigail Payne is a Fellow-in-Residence at the C.D. Howe Institute and an Associate Professor in the Department of Economics at McMaster University. Her area of research is public economics and law and economics. She has also held the Canada Research Chair in Public Economics.

Her undergraduate degree was in Economics and Mathematics from Denison University. She also received her J.D. from Cornell Law School and a Ph.D. in Economics from Princeton University. She worked as an Associate Lawyer for Collier, Shannon, Rill & Scott, Washington, D.C.

With respect to public economics, she studies issues pertaining to the effects of government policy and/or funding on donations and fundraising efforts of nonprofit organizations. She is also interested in the political economy of research funding at universities and the effects of the research funding on research activities.